Dear Investors:

AMMC CLO X, LIMITED will make a payment to Noteholders on January 11, 2017. The collateral for the monthly Trustee Report was determined as of January 3, 2017. The current portfolio has a Weighted Average Rating Factor (WARF) of 2830, a Weighted Average Spread of 3.60%, and the Moody's Diversity Score is 49 as of the January 2017 Determination Date. AMMC CLO X is no longer in the Reinvestment Period and will apply $51.3MM of principal proceeds to make payments on the Class A Notes in accordance with the Note Payment Sequence.

The following is an overview of the syndicated leveraged loan market, and a brief update on the current status of AMMC CLO X, LIMITED.

Market Overview – Syndicated Leveraged Loans

The new-issue market kept its head of steam in the fourth quarter, with $102 billion of institutional loan supply in the books over the final three months of the year. That is down only slightly from $107 billion in the third quarter, but the combined $209 billion was the strongest output across consecutive quarters since the first half of 2014. Total institutional issuance rose 31% this year to $336 billion, from $257 billion in 2015. The primary driver of the issuance continued to be opportunistic deals, accounting for 56% of the 4Q institutional total, via divided deals and straight refinancing's. Dividend deals spiked to $20.6 billion in the quarter, nearly half of the 2016 total of $44.5 billion. Not since the second quarter of 2013 has dividend volume been so high. Likewise, with investor demand so high, the secondary continued to rally. The average bid of loans in the S&P/LSTA Index was 98.08 as of Dec. 31, up from 95.21 at the beginning of the quarter. Moreover, with 67% of the loans in the Index bid north of par, repricing activity gained momentum, hitting $84.8 billion in the fourth quarter, a 44% increase over the prior quarter. The most since the first quarter in 2014. As a result, in December the average period between issuance and repricing fell to just 15 months from 16 months in November and October. Also indicative of the hot market, lower rated concerns continued to reprice. Around 60% of October and November repricing's were single-B issuers, up from 55% in September and 43% in August. Although higher-rated issuers took a commanding share in December with just 35% of volume from single-B names, for the fourth quarter overall, the lower-rated cohort account for 52%, up from 42% in the prior quarter.

The S&P/LSTA Leveraged Loan Index returned .18% for the week ended January 4, bringing year-to-date loan returns to .12%, up from .01% during the same period in 2016. BB loans for the week returned .13%. Single-B loans also returned .15%.
